PROCEDURES USED FOR BLACK SWAN TREATMENTS

ELECTRO-STIMULATION

is a natural alternative to the traditional and non-surgical facelift without unwanted toxicity and contraindications. This anti wrinkle methodology stimulates the muscle to get volume and then to reposition itself to its original position; there is also a tissue regeneration effect, as the muscle stimulation creates an increased capillarity in the treated area, oxygenation, and in addition it stimulating collagen production.

ULTRASOUND PEELING

This treatment is particularly effective in achieving skin rejuvenation and revitalization. The use of ultrasound equipment allows a deep cleansing of the skin and the removal of impurities, freeing in an effective way the pores. It promotes reactivating oxygenating micro-massage and the absorption of the active ingredients of cosmeceutical or curative products.

MANUAL MASSAGE

Besides the general anti-stress effects, the massage techniques also achieve a toning, firming, brightening, microcirculation revival and stimulation (in the production of collagen, elastin and cell turnover).
